WUSD looks at $2.4 million in cuts

Board may make decisions on Thursday; staff also studying shortening of school year, cancellation of RCHS bus service

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's school board tomorrow will be asked to vote on a package of $2.4 million in budget cuts to deal with revenue shortfalls.

Some of the items on that list of proposed cuts:

■ Elimination of the River City High School's librarian position, and staffing of the library with part-time clerks. The current librarian would be reassigned to other duties, in a move expected to save $60,000 over the next fiscal year.

■ Reduction of the district budget for "routine restricted maintenance," projected to save $249,000 over three years.

■ Elimination of $50,000 in district money to help send sixth graders to overnight science camps – a move which will require students to raise about $300 each in the future if they wish to attend camp.

■ "Repurposing" of staff development money to save $473,000.

■ Elimination of two paraeducator computer lab personnel to save about $68,000.

■ Reduction of clerical support at small elementary schools.

■ Reduction of library technician hours at grade school and high school level to save $77,000.

The board will also be briefed on several savings ideas that won't be voted upon this week, but might come back in the future. Still being examined for possible future board consideration are:

■ Changing to a "team cleaning" model for custodial services, which is intended to save about $455,000 by reducing hours worked.

■ Elimination of sports in the K-8 schools. About 500 middle-grade students would lose the opportunity for sports in a move that could save $88,500.

■ Closure of one of the smaller campuses in the district to attempt to save $375,000, and:

■ Elimination of bus transportation for high school students, to save around $459,000. According to the district, 784 students currently receive daily bus transportation to school.

Also on the "maybe" list are measures such as reducing service by the campus police officers, elimination of freshman sports (freshmen would have to compete for junior varsity positions at the high school), and furloughs or reduction in total compensation for all staff. Staff is also examining the possible reduction of the school year by five days.

The News-Ledger asked school board president David Westin how he feels about the list of proposed cuts.

"We need to take a real hard look at how the district office is staffed," said Westin. "That has been one area that has not felt the pain of cuts."

How likely is it that the board, sometime in the future, will have to take draconian measures such as eliminating buses for River City High School or shortening the school year?

DAVE WESTIN, president of the school board, wants to look for 'fat' within the WUSD district office

"Those are not really in the realm of discussion," said Westin. "I think I would be hard pressed to approve cutting buses for River City. A lot of the population is in the north of town, and we need kids to show up at school to get ADA (state funds for schools, based on attendance). That would seem to be counterproductive."

Westin invited anyone with thoughts on what to cut (and what to preserve) to visit the school board and share their views.

Thursday's board meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. at city hall, 1110 West Capitol Avenue.

'Inland marine highway'?

■ $30 million in stimulus money intended to kick-start 3-port barge system

The Port of West Sacramento reported last week that the U.S. Department of Transportation will award $30 million to a partnership involving the ports of West Sacramento, Oakland and Stockton. The grant is intended to help start an ambitious container barge service on an "inland marine highway service" linking the three ports.

Backers hope to have the "marine highway" up and running by the end of the year.

Preventing fires, fixing burns

The West Sacramento Fire Prevention Trailer spent February 13 at the Sunrise Mall in Sacramento. Over 200 kids visited the trailer, reports the department. The event helped to support the annual "Fill the Boot for Burn Victims" drive, which has raised over $110,000 for the Burn Institute and the new Firefighters Burn Institute Regional Burn Center at UC Davis Medical Center. The West Sacramento Rotary Club recently hosted the River City High School finalists for the Annual Speech Competition, the winner of which will be advancing to the Area Finals, and will have a chance to compete in the District Finals on April 7th.

The River City High students gave speeches to a crowd of nearly 100 at the Pheasant Club on the selected topic of "The Future is in Your Hands" and provided poignant examples from their own lives of lessons they had learned from earlier challenges and how the difficult or painful experiences helped redefine their perspective on the future for the better.

The panel of three Rotarian judges evaluated the speeches based on a variety of criteria (including relevance to the selected topic, originality, humor, poise, diction

Burglars sentenced: witnessed recognized TV she helped pick out

A Yolo County jury on February 9 convicted two West Sacramento men of first degree burglary, after they were caught on June 14 taking a 52-inch flat-screen television from a local home.

The suspects were Valentino Andrade and Kelvin Martinez (who was also convicted of misdemeanor vandalism).

According to the Yolo County District Attorney's office, a neighbor was standing on her patio when she saw the suspects carrying the television. The neighbor had actually helped the victim pick out that TV set. After seeing the incident, she "went to the home of her friend to make sure it was the same television and then ran after the burglars."

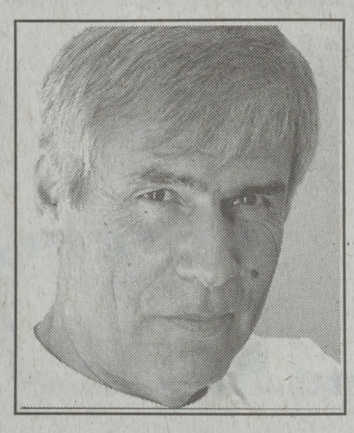
The witness recognized Andrade, who used to live in the neighborhood, but the suspects escaped. The witness provided police with his description.

The next day, Martinez returned to the neighborhood. The victim's family saw him throw a rock through their kitchen window. Later, Andrade turned himself in to police and Martinez was also arrested.

Martinez had a prior "strike" conviction and now faces up to 17 years in state prison. Andrade faces up to six years. Sentencing is scheduled for March 10 in front of Judge Paul Richardson.

Am I the only one not interested in the Olympics?

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

I have a friend who keeps sending me all the updates on what is happening at the Winter Olympics currently going on up in Vancouver, Canada, and I don't really have the heart to tell him I could care less. I mean, I was born and raised here in sunny West Sacramento and I don't have a clue about such winter sports as curling and the biathlon and the Nordic combined and the luge. And as Dave Barry once wrote, "The real problem with winter sports – and follow me closely here – is that they generally take place in winter."

Now I will admit to having watched some of the female ice skaters in their cute little outfits over the years, and to this day I have never seen anything more pretty than the way Janet Lynn could float almost effortlessly over an ice rink, but that is more of a guy thing than a love for winter sports. And I have also from time to time seen some Olympic ski jumping and speed skating and even some hockey (I mean, who can ever forget Al Michaels screaming into his microphone "Do you believe in miracles, yes!" when the USA hockey team beat the Russians back in the 1980 Winter Olympics?), but I have always been much more interested in spring and summer sports than in winter ones, and most anything having to do with snow and ice is something I have always tried to avoid. And like Erma Bombeck once said, "No one should participate in any sport where there is an ambulance waiting at the bottom of the hill."

Anyway, I have always loved the feeling of the sun on my skin, and I hate being cold. And almost every memory I have of snow and ice is a truly bad one. For instance, the first time my parents took me and my brother and sister up to the snowline one winter to throw snowballs at each other, I ended up with pink, frost-bitten hands and feet that throbbed with pain all the way home. And then there was the time a bunch of my college fraternity brothers and I had way too much to drink and decided we should all pile into a car, drive up to Lake Tahoe, and do some alpine skiing, where I quickly learned that you should probably take some lessons first before flying down a ski slope at approximately 100 mph without any clue of how to stop. And shortly after that almost life-ending experience, I found myself up in Fort Lewis, Washington in the winter of 1969, and as part of my Army basic training, I had to spend a night out in the bitter cold and snow in a pup-tent all by myself, wondering all the time of course why such kind of training was necessary since it was common knowledge that every soldier in my training platoon was headed for hot and humid Vietnam, not Siberia. Anyway, within days I had pneumonia so bad that the most evil nurse who ever lived strolled into my base hospital room and matter-of-factly announced, "You've had that 104 degree temperature for three days now, and if it doesn't break by tomorrow, you're most likely going to die."

There was also the time that my wife and I somehow got the bright idea to throw all the kids into the family car and go visit her relatives up in Oregon during the winter. And all was going well until we reached Siskiyou Pass up in Northern California where I suddenly got to experience the sheer terror of driving on black ice for the first time in my life. There I was, making good time and flying down the back side of the highest mountain in the pass when I decided to ask my wife, "Hey, why are all those trucks and cars pulled off to the side of the road down there below us?", to which she quickly replied, "They're not pulled over to the side of the road, Daryl – they're in ditches!" And that is exactly where I was headed once I hit the huge patch of black ice that apparently all the trucks and cars in the ditches had also encountered. So, with everyone screaming and with me totally ignorant about how to drive in such conditions, I just more or less let the car do whatever it wanted to do and we somehow ended up safely at the bottom of the hill.

So, the truth of the matter is that although I've seen a little bit of the Vancouver Winter Olympics (I particularly enjoyed the American downhill skier who won her race on basically one leg and also the American figure skater who took the gold medal away from that cry-baby Russian guy who was much too full of himself), I could live without it. In fact, when it comes to snow, the only time I really enjoy it is when it's painted on really pretty Christmas cards, or stuffed into a big paper cone with lots of very sweet cherry syrup poured all over it!

> Like Erma Bombeck once said, "No one should participate in any sport where there is an ambulance waiting at the bottom of the hill."

The Winter Olympics games are heading down the final slopes with the United States leading the countries with 25 total medals while the host country Canada struggles in fifth place with only 10 medals. The USA has won seven gold medals but Canada only trails by two with six days remaining in the 2010 Vancouver Olympics.

The United States won 25 total medals at the 2006 Olympics in Turin, Italy with 9 gold while Canada won 7 gold medals in their 24 total medal count. Germany won the total medal count at the last Olympics in Italy with 29 of which 11 were gold. This year Germany is currently in second place behind the USA with 7 gold and a total of 21 medals.

Canada spent a mixture of $117 million of private and public money over the past five years to help finance some support for contending athletes. Of course, there are some unhappy campers because as of Tuesday the medal count has been a total disappointment especially with the Americans beating their Hockey team which was suppose to win the gold.

In the biggest upset since the "Miracle on Ice" the United States stunned the Canadians 5-3 to advance to the quarterfinals. It was estimated that 10.6 million Canadians, the most watched sports event in national history, endured the agony of their star-stunned team getting whipped by a rookie USA team and now forces Canada to beat a very powerful Russian team merely to advance past the quarterfinals. O, Canada!

Kings Korner

The Kings finally pulled the trigger on trading Kevin Martin but they couldn't unload forward Kenny Thomas's $8 million contract, so they just waived the veteran to make room for Carl Landry, Joey Dorsey, Larry Hughes and Dominic McGuire.

The Kings acquired Carl Landry, Joey Dorsey, Larry Hughes and cash considerations in a three-way trade with the Houston Rockets and New York Knicks in exchange for Kevin Martin, Hilton Armstrong and Sergio Rodriguez.

Martin landed in Houston

while Sergio ended up in a New York Knicks uniform along with Houston's Tracy McGrady. The Knicks finally got what they wanted which was McGrady's huge $20 million dollar expiring contract so they could release the player at the end of the season and go fishing for the Cavs biggest free agent- King James.

Sacramento now have their own King, in King Carl Landry, who is a 6-9, 248-pound tough forward, who is currently in his third NBA season all with Houston averaging 16.1 points (.547 FGs, .839 FTs) and 5.5 rebounds per game this year in 52 contests with the Rockets. He has totaled career NBA averages of 11.2 points and 5.1 rebounds per game through 163 outings. He was selected by the Seattle Sonics in the second round (31st overall) of the 2007 NBA Draft out of Purdue and then Seattle traded his draft rights to Houston.

Joey Dorsey is a 6-8, 268 pound forward-center in his second NBA season, all with Houston. He is averaging 1.6 points and 3.6 rebounds per game in seven games with Houston. Larry Hughes, a 6-5, 185-pound guard, who is currently in his 12th NBA season where he has averages of 14.4 points but Hughes is out with a broken hand and will probably not play this season and most likely be cut by the Kings at the end of the season for salary cap reasons.

In a separate trade, the Kings acquired Dominic McGuire and cash considerations from the Washington Wizards in exchange for a protected 2010 second round draft pick. McGuire, a 6-9, 220-pound forward, is currently in his third NBA season all with the Wizards and doesn't play very much averaging 0.7 points and 1.5 rebounds per game through 41 contests.

OK, the trading deadline has come and gone so with all this new bodies Sacramento waived Kenny Thomas and now have more than $20 million in salary cap savings for next year's huge free agent bonanza, that is, if the NBA doesn't go on strike!

Rookie forward Jon Brockman sprained his right knee is out for about a month so with the Kings hosting the Detroit Pistons on Tuesday night it looks like Landry and Dorsey may see some extra playing time. The Utah Jazz will at the Arco Arena on Friday (7 p.m.-CSNCA) followed by a rematch with the L.A. Clippers (6 p.m.-CSNCA) on Sunday.

The road to World Cup 2010 in South Africa for the United States and Mexico starts on Wednesday night when the USA National soccer team plays against El Salvador in Tampa (TV: ESPN Classic, Galavision, 7 pm ET) and Mexican National team plays Bolivia at Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

The U.S. national team Coach Bob Bradley named his 23-player squad for the World Cup and will be fielding a youth team in Tampa before they travel to Europe for some serious games. The USA will face Holland on March 3rd in Amsterdam and then play the 2006 World Cup opponent Czech Republic and Turkey in its two final warm up matches before heading to South Africa for the World Cup.

The Czech Republic game will be played May 25 at a site to be announced while the Turkey game will be played May 29 at Philadelphia's Lincoln Financial Field.

Mexico's game in San Francisco kicks off a six-city World Cup Mexico tour that will also visit Los Angeles, Charlotte, New York, Chicago and Houston, between February 24 and May 13, 2010.

GUEST COMMENTARY:

Why not serve on Yolo grand jury?

By Barbara Sommer, Foreperson
2009-10 Yolo County Grand Jury

Yolo County is currently seeking members for the 2010-2011 Grand Jury. Nineteen citizens, selected by an interview and random draw, comprise this arm of the judicial system. It is a watchdog organization whose civil job is to investigate corruption, malfeasance, or simply inefficiency in the agencies and offices in its jurisdiction that receive public funds. Are local agencies doing their job? Are they following the rules? Problems are identified on the basis of complaints submitted from the public or from investigations initiated by the Grand Jury itself.

Applicants must be citizens, age 18-years or older, Yolo County residents for at least a year, have a sufficient knowledge of English, be of sound judgment and fair character, with no felony or malfeasance in office convictions. After being interviewed by a Superior Court Judge and the Jury Commissioner, the applicants' names are entered into a random draw. Nineteen are selected for the Grand Jury, with the remaining applicants as official alternates. Jurors serve for a term of one year, with a possibility of carryover to the next year for five jurors at the courts' discretion.

Unlike the usual jury for a Court case, the Grand Jury is a more active body. It does its own investigations, including scheduling, data analysis, interviews, oversight visits, and writing reports. The main product of its activity is a public report issued at the end of its term in June. It can investigate any person, agency, or office in local government (city, county, special districts). However, the Grand Jury can neither prosecute nor punish. There is no direct staff support. The work is done by the nineteen members, although they can call on the designated Grand Jury Judge, County Counsel, District Attorney, and the State Attorney General for advice. In addition, a statewide organization (California Grand Juror's Association) comprised of current and former grand jury members, provides education, training, and general support (see website at http://cgja.org/).

> You will learn much about local government, get an inside view of the criminal justice system, work with fellow jurors of different backgrounds, and learn about group processes

In Yolo County, the jurors also serve as a criminal Grand Jury. The District Attorney may request the Grand Jury to return an indictment – a formal accusation leading to criminal trial. An indictment hearing is an alternative to a preliminary hearing in Superior Court. A key difference is that the Grand Jury hearing is secret. The DA may choose this alternative in order to protect witnesses or the accused, and to get a sense of the strength of a case from a community perspective.

Why serve?

You may be able to bring to the jury a needed perspective based on your age or your particular background. Meetings are arranged to accommodate the schedules of people with work and family commitments. A strong Grand Jury is one that is truly representative of Yolo County's diversity. You will learn much about local government, get an inside view of the criminal justice system, work with fellow jurors of different backgrounds, and learn about group processes and negotiation with colleagues holding different perspectives. The Grand Jury work requires a significant time requirement and can be tedious but a Grand Jury that is able to establish clear goals and procedures early on will be successful and personally gratifying.

For more information and an application, go to http://www.yolo.courts.ca.gov/ and click on Grand Jury. The application deadline is Thursday, April 15, 2010

Letters to the Editor

Keep RCHS librarian

During my time on the WUSD school board in the 1990s, I had the pleasure of serving with Ms. Sudesh Singal on several library committees aimed at improving the quality of the WUSD school libraries. I was impressed with her knowledge, professionalism, and dedication to students. I watched her transform the GSMS library into a well-organized, up-to-date, welcoming place to study and learn. I have no reason to believe that she did any less for River City.

The district spent so many years planning for and building a new, state-of-the-art high school that could enrich our community and offer a rigorous academic program to our young people. They were able to open the new campus with a strong, state-of-the-art library thanks to the work of a certificated librarian in building up the collection beforehand and establishing an atmosphere of excellence at the library. A strong high school library is a key factor in strengthening academic excellence, reducing the drop-out rate, and helping more graduates to attend college. A strong high school library cannot be maintained by classified personnel, no matter how diligent they are. Even if you managed to bring back the position in a few years, it would take many more years to restore the library to the level of quality that Ms. Singal has brought it to.

I know the current state of the economy has forced districts to make tough decisions, but I urge the budget committee to reconsider their recommendation regarding the librarian position. The loss of a credentialed librarian at the high school would be a giant step backwards for RCHS and WUSD.

Fix the parking problem

One has to wonder how much worse the parking will get when the Civic Center is completed in August/September of this year. Where will the public and tourists park if the situation continues to be so deplorable? Does city hall have a solution to this inadequate parking problem? Those in city hall who were responsible for the strategy for parking surrounding these three new infrastructures on the corner of Merkley and West Capitol need to go back to the drawing board and find ways to accommodate even more parking in the future.

CHARLES SANO
West Sacramento

EDITOR'S NOTE: West Sacramento city hall is working on a plan to come up with additional parking spaces for the civic center region. The News-Ledger will bring you a report shortly.

Busy intersection worries

At the February 3rd city council meeting our leaders once again would not approve cameras at busy intersections to catch and fine red light violators. This time it was postponed, but not rejected outright. The presentation did not include the non-profit feature and explicitly excluded non-stopping right turns on red lights. As a pedestrian/bus rider for over 30 years, I've seen too many run red lights when I had the walk signal. And maybe the reason for not including the non-profit feature was related to our governor wanting to install more red light cameras statewide and have the state reap the profits to help narrow the state budget gap.

I oppose both features because a pedestrian's safety is just as important as one's fellow drivers' safety, and not only would we catch and fine more red light violators, making our streets safer for legal drivers and pedestrians, but we would also reduce the need for hot pursuit by police...and we would cut fines by 50% since more violators would be caught. And remember the old DMV slogan: Driving is a privilege, not a right.

Save the librarian

Ms. Singal is the only credentialed librarian in the Washington Unified School District. We strongly believe that it would be detrimental to the district to eliminate her position as librarian at River City High School.

Since Ms. Singal came to this district 17 years ago, she has made improvements to the libraries in the district. She updated the collection of the high school library. She was instrumental in having the library collection and the textbooks computerized, thus saving the district thousands of dollars in lost inventory.

Ms. Singal created study packets for the ninth grade students in order for them to learn how to effectively use the library. She uses the packets when she teaches library orientation to the ninth grade English classes.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Elvis" — If this don't make you All Shook Up, I don't know what will. The classic 1979 made-for-TV movie starring Kurt Russell is finally being released on DVD. The film chronicles Presley's life from a child to his rise to supersardom and ends with his triumphant Vegas comeback. The solid suppoting cast includes: Pat Hingle as Col. Tom Parker, Ed Begley Jr. as drummer D.J. Fontana and, as Gladys Presley, the incomparable Shelley Winters — who chews up the scenery with atomic gusto.

"Where the Wild Things Are" — Director Spike Jonze's glorious adaptation of Maurice Sendak's classic children's book is one of the great family films of 2009. Max (Max Records) is a 9-year-old boy who is sent to bed without supper. Angry at his mother, Max runs away to a far-away island populated by monsters — and that's when the Wild Rumpus begins. Max is crowned king, but soon needs to make a decision: Does he stay forever amongst the Wild Things, or does he return home?

"My Neighbor Totoro" (Two-Disc Special Edition) — Another great children's fantasy film also is being released this week. "My Neighbor Totoro" is Hayao Miyazaki's 1988 animated film about two sisters who befriend a giant, rabbit-like forest sprit named Totoro, who introduces them to many magical creatures (including the Cat Bus!) and the wonders of Nature. Although "Totoro" is a Japanese film, this Disney edition is dubbed in English. Dakota Fanning and her sister Elle provide the voices of the two sisters.

"2012" — Director Roland Emmerich has made a career of destroying the planet, whether it's at the hands of aliens in "Independence Day" or a new Ice Age in "The Day After Tomorrow." This time around, Mother Gaia gets pimp-slapped by a Mayan Prophesy and solar flares that trigger a global barrage of natural disasters. It takes about 30 minutes to introduce the characters and explain the ridiculous premise, but after that "2012" is nothing but an onslaught of CGI mayhem, destruction and the occasional sappy homily about Family or Humanity. It's not as bad as critics would have you believe. It's just the same old mindless "let's blow stuff up real good" fare that we expect from Emmerich. And he delivers.

You Say More Than You Think: Use the New Body Language to Get What You Want!, The 7-Day Plan

By Janine Driver

(Random House, $25)

Reviewed by Katherine B. Olson

In the television criminal drama "Lie to Me," crimes are solved by adeptly decoding the lawbreaker's gestures and facial expressions. Viewers everywhere now wonder what their own shrugs, blinks and posture are truly communicating, from the corporate boardroom to the local bar. Enter body-language expert Janine Driver.

"Read and fix any situation in 7 seconds or less!" Driver promises in "You Say More Than You Think," a guide to finding confidence through understanding and manipulating your body language. Driver honed her own body language-decoding abilities as an officer at the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives, where her know-how and intuition led to justice for gun traffickers and victims alike. On more than one occasion, it even saved her life.

In a weeklong program — participants should devote seven consecutive days to completing the exercises and journaling — readers learn how to convey and conceal their true feelings and how to read the expressions of others. These skills, Driver says, lead to improved interactions — from communicating with incorrigible teenagers, to acing an interview, spotting a liar or enjoying a first date.

More than 50 percent of what people communicate to others is nonverbal, Driver says. Fifty percent! Her guide is an intensive, illuminating and, most important, fun study in putting those gestures, facial expressions and body language to work for you.

Steamed Fish With a Jamaican Twist

Eating fish is an excellent way to add a low-fat, good-quality protein, omega-3 fatty acids, minerals and vitamins to your diet. Two servings of fish per week will greatly benefit your health. The high amounts of protein in fish also aid in the regulation of blood sugar for those with diabetes.

If you've been timid about preparing fish, try the steaming method. Cooking en papillote — meaning "in paper" in French — is a method in which you seal the food in a pouch and bake it. The food essentially steams in the oven in its own juices.

This Jamaican-Style Steamed Fish recipe is cooked en papillote. It's a beautiful dinner party dish because it's easy to prepare in advance and cooks quickly. Present each diner with their own aromatic packet of steamed fish and beautifully cooked vegetables in a delicious sauce. Jamaican-Style Steamed Fish done en papillote is a new twist on cooking fish.

JAMAICAN-STYLE STEAMED FISH

You also can prepare the steamed fish in this recipe using sheets of aluminum foil or in small, lunch-sized paper bags. Twist or fold the ends to seal the foil or the paper bag closed.

- 4 (8-ounce) fillets, use red snapper, tilapia, salmon, cat fish, orange roughy, perch, whiting or whitefish
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 small yellow onion, peeled and sliced into rings
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground black pepper, divided
- 1 teaspoon ground allspice, divided
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 4 cloves garlic, peeled and coarsely chopped
- 1/4 teaspoon fresh, peeled, minced ginger
- 1/2 cherry tomatoes, sliced
- 1/2 white button mushrooms, sliced
- 2 cups broccoli florets
- 1 small red bell pepper, stemmed, seeded and diced
- Leaves from 4 sprigs fresh thyme
- Grated zest and juice of 1 lemon
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 4 (12 by 14-inch) sheets parchment paper

1. Heat oil in a medium skillet over medium heat. Add onions to the pan and season with a teaspoon each of salt and pepper, 1/2 teaspoon allspice and the cayenne pepper. Add garlic and ginger and continue cooking until the onions are slightly wilted. Set pan aside.

2. Pre-heat oven to 350 F. Fold the four pieces of parchment paper in half. Cut each folded sheet into half of a heart shape, staying close to the outside edges of the paper when cutting out the shape. Place opened, heart-shaped pieces of parchment on a rimmed baking sheet. Place each fish filet to one side of the fold line of the heart-shaped parchment, at least 2-inches from the paper's edge. Place equal amounts of the onion mixture with any remaining liquid on top of the fish fillets. Place equal amounts of the cherry tomatoes, mushrooms and broccoli florets on the fish. Sprinkle vegetables with an equal amount of bell pepper, thyme and lemon zest.

3. Fold the top half of the parchment paper over the fish and vegetables to enclose. Starting at the top of the heart-shape, fold about 1/2 inch of the edge toward the center. Seal the paper closed by rolling, pinching and flattening the edges of the paper to form a "hem." When the hem reaches the bottom tip of the heart, leave a small opening so you can add the steaming liquid.

4. Mix together lemon juice, water and soy sauce. Pour equal amounts of the liquid into each packet. Twist the bottom inch or two of the parchment to seal it, and fold it underneath to complete the seal.

5. Bake 11 to 12 minutes, or until the packets have puffed up. Remove the pan of fish from the oven and let the fish rest for 2 minutes before opening the packets. The fish should be opaque and flake easily in the center. If the fish is not fully cooked, bake an additional 2 to 3 minutes. Serve immediately. Serves 4.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. IRRIGATION PUMPS HAVE BEEN STARTED TO FILL CANALS IN WEST SACRAMENTO

WHILE NOBODY IS SUFFERING YET THE TRUSTEES OF RECLAMATION DISTRICT ARE NOT WAITING FOR DAMAGE BY DROUGHT

Last Tuesday the 22-inch pump located on the river levee south of West Sacramento headquarters was started pumping water from the Sacramento River into the drainage and irrigation canals of the district.

J. H. Glide, manager of the West Sacramento Company, took this action in order that the farmers in the great district would have no complaint about a shortage of moisture.

The canals may be used as reclamation or irrigation canals. During heavy rains the canals serve to carry off the excess surface water and when they begin to get low the pump above mentioned on the river levee supplies a full quota of water for sub-irrigation.

Never before in the history of the district has this action been necessary and probably the situation will be relieved in a few days when a downpour of rain comes along.

So far this is the driest winter that California has experienced, but floods have been known to come in March, April, May and even June and July.

A trip through West Sacramento and the Netherlands last Sunday showed that while no crops were absolutely suffering or liable to fail, rain in copious quantities, would do a great deal of good to the farms already planted and growing rapidly.

The pump above mentioned is kept going night and day and throws a vast column of water 22 inches in diameter. In about four days all the canals which converge at the great southern pumping plant will be filled with an ample supply of water that may be pumped by the land owners to irrigate their crops.

In several cases pumps are being installed on the banks of the canals and more will be added as the weather shows an inclination to continue dry.

It almost appears as if the people were being visited by the judgment of God with a drought for having permitted themselves to become the goats of prohibition.

SUICIDE MADE DELIBERATE PLANS TO END ALL

While strolling along the river levee about half a mile north of Washington yesterday G. Albrecht and W. Schroeder of Fresno happened on the corpse of Louis M. Clauson.

They reported to Constable Buckingham, who took charge of the remains until the Coroner arrived from Woodland.

At the side of the corpse lay a double-barreled shotgun with an empty cartridge and fired in such a way that it was evident the suicide was premeditated and fully arranged.

A long forked stick still adhered to the trigger and was evidently used to explode the gun. The remains were cold when discovered.

On the clothing which was fairly good was found 75 cents, a merchandise bill for clothing from a Stockton firm and a long rambling letter to a Stockton physicion. On the back of the bill was written "Forgive me if you can. Louis."

The man had removed his coat, vest and hat and hung them on a tree.

The shot fired from the gun tore away the rear half of the skull and death must have been instantaneous.

It would appear from the evidence at hand that the man was an escape from one of the State asylums.

Deputy Coroner Wilson took the remains to Woodland where an inquest was held last evening.

The man was unknown in this locality and the Coroner is seeking relatives of the deceased.

After having been caught lying, the Flying Parson, B. W. Maynard, is about to take part in a recruiting campaign through a flight of over 2000 miles.

You can't drive a parson out of a good paying job.

The Methodist Episcopal Church is making appeal to women "to refrain from the use of tobacco in the name of the country's welfare.

Most people believed that Methodist Episcopalism taught better habits than smoking.

SURVEYORS ARE MAPPING ROAD FROM BRIDGE TO RIVERBANK

During the past three days a force of surveyors under the direction of the county engineer have been mapping the road from the S. P. bridge to the Sacramento weir a distance of about two miles.

Ten men are engaged in the work and are, hurrying it so that there will be no delay in its construction.

In the plans for the concrete road way the specifications call for its construction north of the S. P. tracks between 3rd and 5th streets and the leveling to the grade of the tracks.

Supervisor Leinberger explains this will be the first piece of road built in this district because it is so badly needed and the present road is in such poor condition. All sharp curves are to be lengthened and all grades removed.

Farther north it will be necessary to raise several stretches of levees before the road can be built. This work is now under way or will be done as soon as dredgers can get to the places.

The surveyors will be through their work in a few days.

Yet newspapers, magazines and periodicals, even weekly papers published in the United States can't advertise jackass, near beer, old crow, or old Kirk whiskey.

BUNGALOWS IN WEST SACRAMENTO ARE IN GREAT DEMAND

So great has become the demand for homes in West Sacramento since it became known that the Virden Packing Plant would be established in the district, that one of the bungalows built two years ago was sold the other day for a very good figure by Miss D. Kruger, Secretary to the Manager of J. H. Glide.

The price paid for the bungalow was $2,750, the lot measuring 50x160 feet.

All these bungalows are very presentable and very comfortable. They contain all modern improvements with the exception that for the time being a gas supply for cooking is not available.

Later on when the mains of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. are extended from Sacramento to Woodland, gas for cooking will be available in the homes.

At this writing each one of these homes has electric lights, running water, baths and other modern conveniences.

The purchaser of the bungalow just sold by Miss Kruger is Mrs. Jennie Feher, who has already taken up her residence in her new home.

LANAGAN & FOUSE SALOON RAIDED

Federal officers raided the saloon of Lanagan & Fouse at 1023 Third street yesterday and placed the proprietor under arrest under the prohibition law.

Particulars of the raid could not be obtained before this paper went to press.

Suffice it to say that saloonmen should be very careful for the time being because they don't know the minute the raiders may drop in.

and more) and the students didn't fail to impress, earning a standing ovation at the conclusion.

While the final ranking among the talented student performances was difficult, the judges weighed in with the following conclusions: Honorable Mention - Alexandra Elfers (certificate of recognition); 3rd Place - Jordyn Wright (certificate and $50 prize); 2nd Place - Thomas Thao (certificate and $100 prize) and 1st Place - Trevor Langford (certificate and $200 prize).

Trevor Langford, whose winning speech told how he had been inspired by his brother in the military to aspire to a successful military career himself, will be advancing to the Area Finals at West Sacramento City Hall on March 10th for an opportunity to win $250 and a chance to compete at the District 5130 Finals on April 7th for the Grand Prize of $1000.

The Annual Student Speech Contests, along with student scholarships provided by the West Sacramento Rotary Education Foundation, represent another way that area Rotary Clubs reward academic excellence and help students aspire to future success in the community. Special recognition also goes to the West Sacramento Rotary Youth Chairs JoAnn Moffett and Joanie Kapell, who organized the speech contest and served as the masters of ceremonies for the event.

said Congressman Mike Thompson in a press release from the port. "Every dollar we inveset in infrastructure gives our economy a 59 percent return. This collaborative project. . . will create both near term construction jobs, long term employment opportunities, and will deliver economic and environmental benefits to our region and state."

The Port of West Sacramento plans to use its portion of the funding to build a crane and other facilities to help handle container cargo. Traditionally, the port has dealt with bulk cargo such as rice, wood chips and construction materials.

Backers of the project believe that moving cargo in container on barges will relieve truck traffic from Northern California freeways. This will improve air quality, reduce congestion and lower emissions of greenhouse gases.
